Re: Nomination of Daniel E. Campbell, P.E., S.E. to the Nevada State Board of Engineers and Land Surveyors.

You're Honor;

Daniel Campbell has been my friend and associate in the Structural Engineering field for several years. We have each owned and managed consulting companies and, although competitors for business, we have served together on the Structural Engineering Association of Southern Nevada (SEASoN) with an eye of strengthening the knowledge base of the profession and serving the interests of the public through our involvement in advising and communicating with the local building department, and in testimony to the Board of Engineers.

I have always found Mr. Campbell to be the consummate professional and always willing to lend an ear to differing design and administrative concepts within the field. Structural engineering is the highest level of engineering licensure offered by the Board and I believe Mr. Campbell has a lot to offer in the way of technical expertise tempered with a practical knowledge demanded by any good leader. He has served for several years on the SEASoN Board, at first as a director under my Presidency and, now he has been chosen by his peers to serve as the President of that group for the remainder of this year. His leadership in that organization has developed a strong program of continuing education of the membership and support of public safety through his promotion of a more uniform plan development, review and inspection processes.

Mr. Campbell has already shown his willingness to serve the Nevada State Board through his mentorship of a disciplined engineer, multiple exam proctoring and personal testimony before the Board on issues of revisions to the Nevada Administrative Code (NAC 625). He has previously had great involvement in the American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE) and served on the "Body of Knowledge" national committee for that professional society which is looking toward raising the knowledge bar of its membership by 2025.

For these above mentioned reasons, and more, I am enthusiastically endorsing Daniel Campbell to be a member of The Nevada State Board of Engineers and Land Surveyors.

Sincerely
